We partner with Rize Education and the LCMC, a national consortium of non-profit, Title IV eligible, accredited colleges, to offer an expanded catalog of online courses developed by leading academic and subject-matter experts in the programs below and taught by faculty at other participating LCMC institutions. This innovative partnership gives students the unique opportunity to take high-quality courses that complement our existing programs and offer a wider portfolio of skills, career pathways, and learning experiences.

Certain courses within this program are offered online through a partnership with Rize Education and taught by other participating LCMC institutions. All courses offered through the consortium will be delivered in an online, asynchronous format, ensuring accessibility for students. All courses are evaluated, assessed, and approved through [PARTNER University/College]'s standard faculty governance processes and taught by participating faculty within a national consortium of accredited institutions. For a list of teaching institutions please see this list of Teaching Institutions by Program. Students who successfully complete these courses earn [PARTNER] credits that are applied toward their degree.

Most course materials will be provided to students through the course's LMS, free of charge. Some courses require additional materials (e.g., textbooks) that may incur a cost in line with materials for other campus-based courses.
